

A Doovalacky is a simple bungee cord restraint for securing RV or 4WD internals when on the road (and off road). We first introduced the Doovalacky in September 2019 and they have been well received since then.

When you last travelled that corrugated dirt road what carnage did you find when you opened your RV or camper trailer door? Since we have purchased our new van the drawers have come open on many occasions and the fridge has opened twice! Rough dirt roads (and a lot of bitumen roads) will destroy anything that is not secured adequately. The DOOVALACKYS are your solution.

Although you may own a full off road caravan unfortunately a lot of manufacturers don't take into consideration what actually happens when you hit the rough stuff. Poor choices for internal hardware (like full sliding doors and cheap drawer latches for example) are not designed at all for off road conditions. Many sliding drawer systems are simply not up to standard and often fly open during transit.

Have you ever thought what happens to your Tri-fold table over rough terrain? They bounce up and down, this movement will ultimately lead to failure of fixings or damage the table.

Do manufacturers offer any after market fixing devices? Is there anything out there in the RV market targeted specifically for these issues? There is now. Doovalackys are the solution.

Doovalackys are custom made Aussie Bungee cord restraints and will secure items such as drawers, sliding doors, tri-fold tables, fridge doors or anything that might become loose or airborne in your RV, 4WD or camper. We have tried and tested varieties of fastening methods, the Doovalackys have the least noticeable anchor points and the Doovalackys can be simply removed and stored once you've parked up.
