2019 New Products

Exhibitor Releases

Please find listed below some of the new products available to see and purchase at the show.

Name	Thermal Balancing Mattress Topper and Quilt
Description:	New to the market with products that have outlast technology sewn into the make-up of the products, unlike others that are 'washed' with it.
Release Date:	2018
Blurb:	Outlast® technology was originally developed for NASA to protect astronauts in space from temperature fluctuations. Products containing Outlast® technology absorb, store and release heat for optimal thermal comfort. Outlast® temperature regulating textiles adjust to the skin's microclimate and offer more comfort through this proactive heat management. When temperature, heat and moisture are managed correctly the advantages include less overheating, less chilling and less perspiration, ensuring more comfort while you sleep. It is often ideal for those who experience night sweats or hot flushes. Outlast® technology is continuously and rigorously tested, ensuring the highest standards of quality and reliability. Outlast® materials are ecologically harmless and do not contain harmful substances.
Images:	 A photograph showing a bed with white thermal balancing mattress toppers and quilts. The bed is set up in a room with white walls and a light-colored floor. To the right of the bed is a white metal side table with a glass vase containing yellow flowers. The overall scene is clean and bright.
